Meat Packing Strike Closes Swift Plant

Armour Pact Flunks As Pattern after Others Stand Firm

CHICAGO (AP) — Union meat-packing house workers struck Swift and Co. and Wilson and Co., two giants of the meat industry, early today.

Then the unions quietly called off the Wilson strike with a joint agreement to continue wage-hour talks for 24 hours.

The United Packinghouse Workers of America and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen called the strikes at Swift's plants in 34 cities and at Wilson's plants in seven cities to enforce demands — rebuffed by both companies — for higher wages and other benefits in a new contract replacing one which expired Aug. 31.

The contract talks have been under way since early July. Two days ago, Armour and Co., another of the Big Four of the meat-packing industry, signed a contract granting wage boosts and some of the other union requests. The other industry leaders were expected to follow.

But Swift and Wilson stood firm despite the intervention of federal mediators who have held virtually continuous sessions with both sides for the last 48 hours.

The unions announced their strike calls in two joint scathing indictments of the latest Wilson and Swift offers.

The Swift demands, they charged, were "arrogant and adamant."

In answer, Swift said the "action of union leaders in ordering employees to leave their job violates a clear understanding reached before the U.S. conciliator that bargaining on a new contract would be recessed until Sept. 8."

The Swift proposal called for wage gains similar to those negotiated with Armour and Co. earlier in the week plus 14 cents an hour—representing cost of living adjustments for the past three years.

Wilson's offer called for wage and benefit increases totaling 22½ cents an hour over a two-year period.

The recent Armour pact calls for increased pay and benefits totaling about 22 cents an hour.

Pickets quickly appeared at Swift plants in Cleveland, Chicago, Milwaukee, New Haven, Nashville, Baltimore and Vernon, Calif.

The strike call at the Swift plants affected between 16,000 and 17,000 workers, both the union and the company said.

State Fair Draws To Close Tonight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 1959 Ohio State Fair draws to a close tonight with officials hoping to at least match the 1955 attendance figure of 261,043, a four-year low.

Agriculture Director Robert Terhune predicted Thursday that the fair would break even financially this year despite the fact it began $47,500 in the red.

He slated a session for October in which ideas will be discussed concerning future State Fairs. Board of Agriculture members, press, radio and TV representatives and other interested persons will attend the meeting, he said. Terhune predicted more industry exhibits at the fair next year, suggesting that industry might well be represented on the fair management board.

The director also suggested the carnival aspect of the fair be moved away from the center of things.

He added he is studying the history of earlier efforts to get pari-mutuel betting at the harness races. Betting might improve attendance, Terhune said. Purses this year totaled more than $114,000.

Also mentioned was the possibility of splitting the junior and senior livestock shows. This would avoid construction of additional building space, Terhune said, since the groups would be in at different times.

A six-year improvement program including a new youth exhibits building and administration building are planned, he noted.

Slated for next year is a re-vamping of the electrical system, at a cost of about $185,000. The Coliseum is to get a new roof and cement floor this fall, the director added.

Terhune said of the 1959 show: "It was a good fair, considering the rainy weather. Fair manager Rowland Bishop did a very good job, I think."

Livestock judging closed Thursday night with Ronnie Musser, 20, an FFA member from Huntsville, sweeping the Ayshire show by winning all the blue ribbons.

Shanghai Exec Supreme Dona, a cow owned by Charles H. Lewis & Son of Hamilton, won the three-year-old Holstein cow futurity to take the top $400 of the $2,000 prize money.

In the harness races, Leading Song won the $21,715 Governor's Cup Trot, taking the mile in 2:06 2-5. The three-year-old, driven by Virgil Butt, is owned by C. M. Saunders of Perrysburg.

Fair officials were disappointed as Gov. Michael V. DiSalle passed up the fair in favor of a speaking engagement at Cleveland. Thursday was Governor's day at the fair.

Here's a rundown of top winners in Thursday's events: Jerald Miller, 19, of Luckey, sold his 1,010-pound grand champion Angus steer at a gourmet's price—$1.81 a pound, 61 cents a pound more than the top-priced animal brought last year.

The champion Hereford, owned by Donna Craig of Washington Court House, and the champion shorthorn owned by Bob Lenhart of Galloway were both purchased for 45 cents a pound.

The two planes landed safely a short time later, the rocket ship still in place.

The man who heads the world's most spectacular road show had to hint, wheedle and threaten for more than two years before he achieved the peak of his ambition as a showman: a booking for a United States tour.

Now that he has achieved it, the tour starting next week likely will prove the supreme test of Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev's career as a traveling salesman for the Soviet brand of communism.

Until about four years ago the world outside the U.S.S.R. was a blank to Khrushchev. Since then he has become an exuberant traveler. But he never takes a trip without specific purposes in mind.

Khrushchev began hinting in June 1957 that he would like to visit the United States. The hints received scant attention. He tried again. On New Year's Day, 1958, he toasted President Eisenhower, saying: "If the Soviet Union and the United States could get together and reach agreement, most of the world's problems would be solved."

Next day the whole Soviet press took up the cry for a meeting between the Soviet Premier and the American President. Hints multiplied thereafter. Khrushchev indicated he was willing and eager to visit the United States for a summit meeting. Again the hints got nowhere.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon's tour of the Soviet Union this summer contributed to a noticeable thaw in Soviet-American relations. Khrushchev finally got the invitation he had wanted so badly. And the question arose: Why was Khrushchev so eager?

Even before preparations were complete for his trip, there were signs that the impending visit was causing aggravations among members of the North Atlantic Alliance. Many were not too sure the Big Two might not, as Khrushchev phrased it, get together and solve the world's problems without reference to smaller nations.

Even President Eisenhower's trip to Europe fell short of putting all these nagging fears at rest.

Khrushchev himself had some troubles in that respect. The Red Chinese were unlikely to be enthusiastic about the U. S.-Soviet exchange.

But in any event the bouncy Khrushchev seemed to look forward with relish to his prospective new adventures as communism's No. 1 tourist.

Khrushchev would be able to check personally on reports he had received about the United

Ike Vacationing In Scotland

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)—President Eisenhower arrived in Scotland today for a short vacation at a Highlands castle before returning to the United States from his nine-day diplomatic mission to Western Europe.

Eisenhower flew by jet directly from France, where he held two days of talks with President Charles de Gaulle rounding out a tour that took him to Bonn, London and Paris.

He plans to spend a sporting-rest weekend at Culzean Castle. Several fine golf courses and hunting areas are nearby. Scotland gave him a 16-room apartment in the castle as a token of respect for his leadership as Allied commander in World War II.

His beautiful third-floor apartment looks out over the broad sweep of the Firth of Clyde.

A cheering crowd of 500 Scots greeted the smiling President at Prestwick Airport. He showed none of the strain of his grueling schedule.

Eisenhower said farewell to De Gaulle at Rambouillet Chateau, Paris, where he spent the night. De Gaulle bade him a "bon voyage, Monsieur le President." A helicopter flew Eisenhower from Rambouillet to Paris' Le Bourget airport, where he boarded the plane for Scotland.

"Goodbye, again au revoir," said Eisenhower in a brief airport speech during which he thanked the people of France and the French government for making his two-day stay "so pleasant and enjoyable."

"Finally, I want to say that the visit of Gen. de Gaulle and myself has been mutually profitable and in my opinion will mark another step in our cooperative effort toward peace with justice," Eisenhower said.

He stood bareheaded beneath gray skies as the band played the Star Spangled Banner and the Marseillaise. Then he walked across damp tarmac to his plane.

At Le Bourget Airport to see Eisenhower off were all top members of the French Cabinet; U. S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander; French Premier Michel Debre; and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Premier Debre, in replying to Eisenhower's farewell speech, said his trip—the first state visit by an American president since Woodrow Wilson after World War I—"demonstrated the certainty of cooperation between France and the United States" which is necessary for the preservation of the Atlantic Alliance and the battle for world peace.

Rain fell during the night but stopped by the time the President boarded a helicopter for the flight to Paris from Rambouillet.

The President wound up his last and perhaps most crucial discussions with De Gaulle Thursday night on a note of general agreement.

After two days of talks, the two leaders issued a communique saying they agreed on most of the questions discussed.

Whether or not there was agreement on the most delicate question of all—the rebellion in Algeria—was not readily apparent. The communique touched on the subject in vague language, saying only that "African problems in general and those which relate to North Africa in particular were discussed at some length."

There was speculation the French leader told Eisenhower of his new plans for ending the nearly five-year-old revolt in Algeria.

Diplomatic sources, however, were convinced De Gaulle outlined his plans and sought United States support.

Informed sources said the French President would make a statement before the United Nations General Assembly opens in New York Sept. 15. The Algerian issue is slated to come up in the U.N.

The New York Times said in a dispatch from Washington that De Gaulle's plan for Algeria calls for creation of an Algerian-elected assembly and an Algerian executive.

According to the report, De Gaulle would be willing to negotiate the future of Algeria with an executive drawn from the elected legislature.

There is no question that differences remain. But Eisenhower's camp as well as British, French and West German leaders all seem to feel that the President's visit created a new spirit of hopefulness and cooperation in Western Europe.

Eisenhower's tour began in Bonn, where he apparently convinced West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that the President's forthcoming talks with Khrushchev may help solve the Berlin problem and lead to a general easing of world tensions.

Since the Bonn meeting, Adenauer has shown signs of being willing to follow a more flexible policy in dealing with the Soviets.

In Britain, Eisenhower had no task of resolving any serious Anglo-American differences. There weren't any.

One of the President's chief goals in London was to bring British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan around to deferring a summit meeting with Khrushchev until after Eisenhower's conference with the Soviet Premier.

The President continued to insist that the Soviet Union must display signs of good faith in her dealings with the West before he would agree to a summit conference.

The President's point of view prevailed.

From the standpoint of personal popularity, Eisenhower's sojourn was a tremendous success. Everywhere—in West Germany, Britain and France—he was wildly cheered by huge crowds.

Senate OKs Measure on 95-2 Margin

Morse, Langer Sole Opponents; Union Critics Enthused

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today completed congressional action on the labor controls bill and sent it to the White House. President Eisenhower is expected to sign it.

The roll call vote was 352-52.

The measure had passed the Senate 95-2 Thursday night.

Today's House action dramatically capped the President's biggest legislative victory of the session.

It handed Eisenhower a bill patterned closely after his recommendations for legislation to cope with corruption and racketeering in labor-management relations.

The bill, containing unprecedented controls over the internal affairs of unions, is by far the most substantial rewriting of the nation's labor laws since the 1947 Taft-Hartley Act.

Its first six titles, aimed at racketeering and other abuses in some unions, provide detailed regulation of union finances, elections, trusteeships and conduct of officers and employees.

The seventh and final title, which aroused the most controversy, amends the Taft-Hartley law to put new restrictions on such union weapons as boycotts and organizational picketing. It also contains a few amendments long sought by the unions.

Only Senators Wayne Morse (D-Ore) and William Langer (R-ND) voted against the bill in the Senate.

Morse used more than four hours of the debate time detailing his charge that the measure liquidated "some of the hard-earned legitimate rights of American free labor."

All other speeches praised the bill, but in general the enthusiasm was greater among senators most critical of unions.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) chairman of the Senate-House conference and sponsor of the original Senate version, said the final product went farther than he would have liked.

But he said he made no apologies for it—"I will say frankly it is the only bill it is possible to obtain in all the circumstances."

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the Senate Rackets Committee, said the compromise bill was better than either of the earlier versions and "a fine reward" for three years of work by his group. Much of the steam behind the bill was generated by the committee's disclosures of union abuses.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) said the bill would "strike at the heart of the racketeering, hoodlumism and gangsterism in the labor movement."

Mayor, Governor Confer on Crime Wave in Gotham

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller met today to consider measures aimed at countering rising juvenile crime.

After separate sessions Thursday, the mayor and governor each said they favored a program of special youth camps akin to the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) of depression days. The state now has two work camps for young offenders.

The roundup of teen-age hoodlums continued with the arrest of four boys accused of stabbing 18-year-old Dominick Scudiere Wednesday. Held on assault charges were Israel Sannigro, 18, his brother Ephraim, 16, and Victor de la Paz, 17. The fourth boy, 13, was held for Children's Court as a juvenile delinquent.

Calcutta Calm Again

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — Troops stood by today as Calcutta returned to normal after a day of violence that took 15 lives. Apart from two clashes between police and hoodlums in the early morning, the city and its industrial suburb of Howrah were quiet. Thursday's riots developed from Communist-led demonstrations against the Bengal State government's handling of food supplies.

Mitchell Raps Union, Steel

Both Derelict, Says Secretary of Labor

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell says negotiations in the 52-day-old steel strike have reached a critical stage, and he accuses both industry and union of being derelict in their responsibility.

Mitchell's new blast came about the time governors of eight of the states hardest hit by the strike appealed for a conference with President Eisenhower to discuss ways to end the walkout.

Mitchell, who is serving as Eisenhower's fact-finder in the strike, expressed his views in an interview at Cleveland, Ohio.

He said he believed the outcome of Thursday's negotiations and the developments at today's talks here "will produce either some movement or forward progress toward a settlement."

"I think the next few days will determine whether we will get a reasonable settlement or whether the strike will be further drawn out," he added.

Mitchell said both sides "could have applied themselves to bargaining more diligently than they have thus far."

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) said the bill would "strike at the heart of the racketeering, hoodlumism and gangsterism in the labor movement."

Heat Blamed For 1958 Rail Tragedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission said today that 98-degree temperature triggered a wreck that spilled freight cars off a trestle into a recreation area near Mel-rind, Ga. last June 28. Twenty-three persons were killed.

The heat, the most severe in the vicinity in many days, caused the rails to spread with the result that 16 cars of the 124-car train left the tracks, the commission said.

Some of the cars plunged over the side of the trestle into the Ogeechee River. Two cars loaded with propane gas exploded, sending a flash fire over the recreation area.

ICC investigators reported that if the trestle had been provided with guard rails, the derailed equipment probably would not have left the trestle.

Laos Appeals For UN Troops

Civilians Armed To Defend Town

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

—Laos asked the United Nations today to send an emergency force in the shortest possible time to stop aggression from Communist North Viet Nam.

In its appeal, Laos accused Communist North Viet Nam of intervening on the side of the Red rebels of Laos.

A British Foreign Office spokesman told a news conference after the Laotian announcement was issued: "If aggression is established, the British government would obviously be in favor of the United Nations taking action to deal with that aggression."

The rebels launched an offensive Sunday after a bombardment from guns the Laotians said were based across the border in North Viet Nam.

The Foreign Office spokesman said the Laotian appeal was sent to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold Thursday.

The official expectation in London is that the appeal will first be considered by the U.N. Security Council. If Russia vetoes any proposal for U.N. military intervention the issue then probably be placed before the General Assembly.

Bow Enters Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Frank T. Bow (R-Ohio) was taken to Bethesda Naval Hospital Thursday for an examination. Aides said Bow was suffering from upset stomach and nausea.

Police Recover Stolen Vaccine

MONTREAL (AP) — A $50,000 lot of Salk vaccine stolen by masked gunmen from a University of Montreal laboratory Monday has been recovered, although too late to help in Quebec's current polio outbreaks.

A raid on an unattended three-room apartment in East Montreal turned up the stolen shipment of 10,000 vials—enough for 75,000 inoculations—stored in a household refrigerator, a kitchen cupboard, and cardboard boxes strewn around the living room.

The raid developed Thursday on a telephone tipster, believed to have been a nearby resident, who had seen cartons of vaccine being carried into the apartment.

Ike Vacationing In Scotland

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)—President Eisenhower arrived in Scotland today for a short vacation at a Highlands castle before returning to the United States from his nine-day diplomatic mission to Western Europe.

Eisenhower flew by jet directly from France, where he held two days of talks with President Charles de Gaulle rounding out a tour that took him to Bonn, London and Paris.

He plans to spend a sporting-resting weekend at Culzean Castle. Several fine golf courses and hunting areas are nearby. Scotland gave him a 16-room apartment in the castle as a token of respect for his leadership as Allied commander in World War II.

His beautiful third-floor apartment looks out over the broad sweep of the Firth of Clyde.

A cheering crowd of 500 Scots greeted the smiling President at Prestwick Airport. He showed none of the strain of his grueling schedule.

Eisenhower said farewell to De Gaulle at Rambouillet Chateau, Paris, where he spent the night.

De Gaulle bade him a "bon voyage, Monsieur le President." A helicopter flew Eisenhower from Rambouillet to Paris' Le Bourget airport, where he boarded the plane for Scotland.

"Goodbye, again au revoir," said Eisenhower in a brief airport speech during which he thanked the people of France and the French government for making his two-day stay "so pleasant and enjoyable."

"Finally, I want to say that the visit of Gen. de Gaulle and myself has been mutually profitable and in my opinion will mark another step in our cooperative effort toward peace with justice," Eisenhower said.

He stood bareheaded beneath gray skies as the band played the Star Spangled Banner and the Marseillaise. Then he walked across damp tarmac to his plane.

At Le Bourget Airport to see Eisenhower off were all top members of the French Cabinet; U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander; French Premier Michel Debre; and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Premier Debre, in replying to Eisenhower's farewell speech, said his trip—the first state visit by an American president since Woodrow Wilson after World War I—"demonstrated the certainty of cooperation between France and the United States" which is necessary for the preservation of the Atlantic Alliance and the battle for world peace.

Rain fell during the night but stopped by the time the President boarded a helicopter for the flight to Paris from Rambouillet.

The President wound up his last and perhaps most crucial discussions with De Gaulle Thursday night on a note of general agreement.

After two days of talks, the two leaders issued a communique saying they agreed on most of the questions discussed.

Whether or not there was agreement on the most delicate question of all—the rebellion in Algeria—was not readily apparent. The communique touched on the subject in vague language, saying only that "African problems in general and those which relate to North Africa in particular were discussed at some length."

There was speculation the French leader told Eisenhower of his new plans for ending the nearly five-year-old revolt in Algeria.

Diplomatic sources, however, were convinced De Gaulle outlined his plans and sought United States support.

Informed sources said the French President would make a statement before the United Nations General Assembly opens in New York Sept. 15. The Algerian issue is slated to come up in the U.N.

The New York Times said in a dispatch from Washington that De Gaulle's plan for Algeria calls for creation of an Algerian-elected assembly and an Algerian executive.

According to the report, De Gaulle would be willing to negotiate the future of Algeria with an executive drawn from the elected legislature.

Mitchell Raps Union, Steel

Both Derelict, Says Secretary of Labor

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell says

negotiations in the 52-day-old steel strike have reached a critical stage, and he accuses both industry and union of being derelict in their responsibility.

Mitchell's new blast came about the time governors of eight of the states hardest hit by the strike appealed for a conference with President Eisenhower to discuss ways to end the walkout.

Mitchell, who is serving as Eisenhower's fact-finder in the strike, expressed his views in an interview at Cleveland, Ohio.

He said he believed the outcome of Thursday's negotiations and the developments at today's talks here "will produce either some movement or forward progress toward a settlement."

"I think the next few days will determine whether we will get a reasonable settlement or whether the strike will be further drawn out," he added.

Mitchell said both sides "could have applied themselves to bargaining more diligently than they have thus far."

Kenny Hannan Purchases Pickaway Motors Ford Sales

Kenneth R. Hannan, 34, 574 N. Pickaway St., today announced the purchase of Pickaway Motors Ford Sales, 596 N. Court St., from Bonner E. Ezell, 597 N. Court St.

The purchase, completed this morning, ends a five-year stay here for Ezell and his family. Hannan took over operation of the agency September 1.

For the present, Hannan plans to operate the agency under its present name, but will change its title at a later date to Kenny Hannan Ford.

All present employees have been retained with Tom Hill, Route 4, as service manager and Larry Curl Jr., 223 Cedar Heights Road, as parts manager. The business will be continued under its present setup.

HANNAN said a grand opening

Ezell, his wife, Ruth, sons, Greg, 14, and Douglas, 4, and daughter, Rosalie, 8, will leave October 1 for St. Albans, W. Va., a suburb of Charleston, W. Va., where he owns and operates St. Albans Motors Inc., a Ford dealership in that city.

Ezell said today that he was sorry to be leaving here, for he felt Circleville was one of the finest and most progressive cities in the Midwest.

Red China Claims India Aggresses On Tibet Border

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru said today he has received a new note from Red China accusing India of aggression on the Tibetan border.

Nehru told Parliament the government is publishing a white paper on the tense border situation, including correspondence with China.

India has charged the Chinese Communists with aggression by attacking Indian border patrols and moving in to occupy Indian territory.

Nehru told Parliament the note arrived from Peiping Thursday.

Senate OKs Measure on 95-2 Margin

Morse, Langer Sole Opponents; Union Critics Enthused

WASHINGTON (AP) — The

House today completed congressional action on the labor controls bill and sent it to the White House. President Eisenhower is expected to sign it.

The roll call vote was 352-52. The measure had passed the Senate 95-2 Thursday night.

Today's House action dramatically capped the President's biggest legislative victory of the session.

It handed Eisenhower a bill patterned closely after his recommendations for legislation to cope with corruption and racketeering in labor-management relations.

The bill, containing unprecedented controls over the internal affairs of unions, is by far the most substantial rewriting of the nation's labor laws since the 1947 Taft-Hartley Act.

Its first six titles, aimed at racketeering and other abuses in some unions, provide detailed regulation of union finances, elections, trusteeships and conduct of officers and employers.

The seventh and final title, which aroused the most controversy, amends the Taft-Hartley law to put new restrictions on such union weapons as boycotts and organizational picketing. It also contains a few amendments long sought by the unions.

Only Senators Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) and William Langer (R-ND) voted against the bill in the Senate.

Morse used more than four hours of the debate time detailing his charge that the measure liquidated "some of the hard-earned legitimate rights of American free labor."

All other speeches praised the bill, but in general the enthusiasm was greater among senators most critical of unions.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) chairman of the Senate-House conference and sponsor of the original Senate version, said the final product went farther than he would have liked.

But he said he made no apologies for it—"I will say frankly it is the only bill it is possible to obtain in all the circumstances."

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the Senate Rackets Committee, said the compromise bill was better than either of the earlier versions and "a fine reward" for three years of work by his group. Much of the steam behind the bill was generated by the committee's disclosures of union abuses.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) said the bill would "strike at the heart of the racketeering, hoodlumism and gangsterism in the labor movement."

Mayor, Governor Confer on Crime Wave in Gotham

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller meet today to consider measures aimed at counteracting rising juvenile crime.

After separate sessions Thursday, the mayor and governor each said they favored a program of special youth camps akin to the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) of depression days. The state now has two work camps for young offenders.

The roundup of teen-age hoodlums continued with the arrest of four boys accused of stabbing 18-year-old Dominick Scudiere Wednesday. Held on assault charges were Israel Sannigao, 18, his brother Ephraim, 16, and Victor de la Paz, 17. The fourth boy, 13, was held for Children's Court as a juvenile delinquent.

Calcutta Calm Again

CALCUTTA, India (AP) —

Troops stood by today as Calcutta returned to normal after a day of violence that took 15 lives. Apart from two clashes between police and hooligans in the early morning, the city and its industrial suburb of Howrah were quiet.

Thursday's riots developed from Communist-led demonstrations against the Bengal State government's handling of food supplies.

"Petroleum makes life easier and more healthful for all of us today," according to Mr. Miles.

'60 Teays Valley Budget $659,520

The Teays Valley School District expects to spend $659,520 to operate its district in 1960 according to its budget filed by Board clerk, S. E. Beers, on July 20 with the Pickaway County Auditor Mrs. Marvane H. Rhoades.

Included in the amount is $624,520 of general fund operations and $35,000 for bond retirement. General fund receipts were estimated at $624,520 to leave a zero balance at the end of 1960.

The district expects no balance to start out 1960. Major portion of its receipts will come from the general property tax in the amount of $539,420, which will be approximately $89,000 more than 1959 property taxes.

The State Foundation fund estimate dropped $38,000 from 1959 which was over-estimated nearly $38,000 in the 1959 budget.

RENTAL OF SCHOOL lands will bring in $50. Other receipts will keep in conformity with this year's estimate. They include $100 from foreign tuition; $2,500 from other receipts; $22,000 from the Federal Government and $450 from vocational agricultural interests.

Chief expenditure will be teachers' salaries, estimated at $393,340. Administrative salaries were set at $21,980 and other expenses, $1,000.

Instruction expenses were set at $35,000, an increase of $200 over 1959. Transportation of school children salaries were estimated at $3,000 while school bus replacement and repairs were set at $14,000.

Other school bus expenses were estimated at $29,000. Community centers permanent improvements were set at $15,300. Other auxiliary agencies expenses, which were estimated at $27,723.85 for 1959 were reduced nearly $19,000 or down to $8,000 for 1960.

Operation of school plant salaries were set at $30,000 and other expenses, $32,000, both approximately the same as 1959. School plant maintenance was estimated at $25,000 while special services expenses were $15,900.

If estimates go as planned this will be the second straight year for the school district to end up with a zero balance.

Bond retirement receipts were estimated at $56,303.47 and expenses, $35,000, to leave a $21,303.47 balance for 1961.

July Savings Show Increase

July sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds for Ohio exceeded $23 million as compared to $30 million in July, 1958.

Most of the sales decrease if directly attributed to the Series H current income bond while E bond sales through the popular payroll savings plan are showing a gratifying firmness. Sales of the Series E bond were just under $20½ million.

Nationwide, the July redemptions of Series E bonds totaled $479 million. Series E bonds, which had matured or were being held into the automatic 10 year extension period, accounted for 46 per cent of the total redeemed.

July sales in Pickaway County totaled $60,744 for an increase of $18,977 as compared to the same month in 1958.

For the first time in many years an industrial county, Mahoning (Youngstown) leads the State in percentage of sales attainment. Coshocton and Union Counties occupy the runner-up positions.

'60 Teays Valley Budget $659,520

The Teays Valley School District expects to spend $659,520 to operate its district in 1960 according to its budget filed by Board clerk, S. E. Beers, on July 20 with the Pickaway County Auditor Mrs. Marvina H. Rhoades.

Included in the amount is $624,520 of general fund operations and $35,000 for bond retirement. General fund receipts were estimated at $624,520 to leave a zero balance at the end of 1960.

The district expects no balance to start out 1960. Major portion of its receipts will come from the general property tax in the amount of $539,420, which will be approximately $89,000 more than 1959 property taxes.

The State Foundation fund estimate dropped $38,000 from 1959 which was over-estimated nearly $38,000 in the 1959 budget.

RENTAL OF SCHOOL lands will bring in $50. Other receipts will keep in conformity with this year's estimate. They include $100 from foreign tuition; $2,500 from other receipts; $22,000 from the Federal Government and $450 from vocational agricultural interests.

Chief expenditure will be teachers' salaries, estimated at $393,340. Administrative salaries were set at $21,980 and other expenses, $1,000.

Instruction expenses were set at $35,000, an increase of $200 over 1959. Transportation of school children salaries were estimated at $3,000 while school bus replacement and repairs were set at $14,000.

Other school bus expenses were estimated at $29,000. Community centers permanent improvements were set at $15,300. Other auxiliary agencies expenses, which were estimated at $27,723.85 for 1959 were reduced nearly $19,000 or down to $8,000 for 1960.

Operation of school plant salaries were set at $30,000 and other expenses, $32,000, both approximately the same as 1959. School plant maintenance was estimated at $25,000 while special services expenses were $15,900.

If estimates go as planned this will be the second straight year for the school district to end up with a zero balance.

Bond retirement receipts were estimated at $56,303.47 and expenses, $35,000, to leave a $21,303.47 balance for 1961.

July Savings Show Increase

July sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds for Ohio exceeded $23 million as compared to $30 million in July, 1958.

Most of the sales decrease if directly attributed to the Series H current income bond while E bond sales through the popular payroll savings plan are showing a gratifying firmness. Sales of the Series E bond were just under $20½ million.

Nationwide, the July redemptions of Series E bonds totaled $479 million. Series E bonds, which had matured or were being held into the automatic 10 year extension period, accounted for 46 per cent of the total redeemed.

July sales in Pickaway County totaled $60,744 for an increase of $18,977 as compared to the same month in 1958.

For the first time in many years an industrial county, Mahoning (Youngstown) leads the State in percentage of sales attainment. Coshocton and Union Counties occupy the runner-up positions.

Find Medium on Savings

Series E and H savings bond liquidation by citizens has exceeded sales for the twelfth straight month, the U. S. Treasury announces. To stop this trend, which makes the Treasury's management of the $285 billion national debt more difficult, it is proposed to raise interest on the bonds from 3 1/4 to 3 3/4 per cent.

How much good that would do is doubtful. Some private savings institutions already pay more interest than that. The federal bond is safer than anything private institutions can offer, but the saver is likely to shop around for the best rate in these high price times.

Savings in the U. S., which were climbing during last year's recession, are declining again. At an annual rate of $26 billion last September, they have eased off to $23.5 billion now.

Every effort should be made to encourage saving habits. Savings are what keep American enterprise fueled.

Humor Seeps into FBI Ranks

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation is noted more for its sense of justice than its sense of humor.

That fact, of course, is inherent in the nature of its job.

The task of catching thousands of criminals yearly is deadly serious work. It can be deadly dangerous, too. A number of J. Edgar Hoover's men have given up their lives in the line of duty.

But even the grimmest police work sometimes has its wryly humorous side—times when comedy for a moment obscures the tragedy.

When Warner Bros. decided to do a film dramatizing Don Whitehead's best seller, "The FBI Story," it undertook meticulous research into the bureau's operation to insure authenticity.

Here are a few of the lighter episodes in the FBI's crowded history:

Agents once arrested a 19-year-old girl accused of being an accessory in a bank robbery. Under questioning she strenuously denied any knowledge of the crime.

She was told her bail would be $5,000, and agents asked where she could raise such a sum.

"Well," she said, "I guess I could rob another bank."

There was a sudden silence, which the girl broke by observing ruefully: "Oops, I should not have said 'another,' should I?"

In Houston FBI agents trailed two members of a car theft ring to a hotel.

Finding the door ajar, they stepped quickly into the room, told one of the surprised thieves: "We're FBI agents. You are under arrest!"

From an adjoining room came a terrified shout from the second thief: "Don't shoot! I'm clean!"

He was. He was sitting in the bathtub covered with lather.

During one recent investigation an agent served as assistant funeral director, rode in the funeral coach—and even helped in the burial of a man who was a close acquaintance of a fugitive the bureau was seeking.

Now and then a fugitive can be extraordinarily helpful to the FBI. One such was a man wanted for interstate transportation of stolen property. When arrested, he had in his pocket a "wanted" circular which described him fully.

Another, an ex-convict, had in his possession when caught an official copy of his FBI identification record.

He explained he had stolen it several years before from a sheriff's office while working there as a trusty.

Obligingly, he had kept the record up to date himself by writing in the data concerning his later arrests—strictly as a matter of pride.

Nehru Faces Grave Problem

By George Sokolsky

The Manchus, a Tatar race, came through the Great Wall into China in 1644 and conquered the country. They continued their conquests until they reached their apogee during the reign of the Emperor Chien Lung. At that time, the indefinite Chinese boundaries "included" such areas as Manchuria, Mongolia, Turkestan, Tibet and some parts of what are now Burma and India.

I put the word, included, in quotation marks because the Manchus never ruled any part of China. They reigned but did not rule. They conquered some areas by military force, but they employed Chinese to govern and they employed mostly Chinese troops to fight for them. They accepted tribute and sold tax rights, but the government of peoples was always in the hands of those directly concerned with localities.

So when it is claimed that such areas as Bhutan, Sikkim and Nepal and parts of Kashmir were once Chinese territory and are included in China on a map prepared by the Communists, it is meaningless phraseology. At one time or another many Asiatic countries sent tribute to the Chinese throne, but such tribute was not evidence of ownership of the territory by China.

In fact, it has always been difficult to define the term, China. The Chinese themselves referred to their country as "The Middle Kingdom," that is the center of the universe, and all lands on the periphery of "The Middle Kingdom" were either tributaries or barbarians. When the Ta Ching Dynasty collapsed and China became a republic, the five-barred Chinese flag was adopted and the variegated racial character of the country was recognized, each bar representing a distinct race.

The Kuomintang, when it took over the government of China under Chiang Kai-shek, gave up the five-barred flag, denying, in effect, the racial differences and distinctions among the Chinese people. The number of distinct races in China is greater than the flag represented, including many aboriginal pre-Chinese peoples.

The Kuomintang adopted the principle of nationalism, a principle which had never existed in China before and was not understood by the Chinese people. They had believed in the principle of local self-government, "difu chui," which had stood them in good stead for centuries.

The significance of this in the present quarrel with India is that the term, China, is geographical and has never been political in the sense of a national state because no government before ruled over the entire extent of the territory that at any time appeared on the map as China. Arnold Toynbee, in his study, makes a distinction between Sinitic and Chinese in order to explain the very complex distinction which I am attempting to explain here.

In effect, China has historically been a civilization rather than a country; a way of life rather than a government. Whether the Chinese Communists can alter varying traditions; create a single tongue out of more than a hundred languages and dialects; break down countless variations of traditional habits—all this is yet to be seen. Present indications are that they are not succeeding as rapidly as they had expected.

Such countries as Nepal, Bhutan and Sikkim lie in the Himalayas on the borders of two civilizations, the Chinese and the Hindu. In such countries, the variations of religions and traditional and linguistic experience become mixed. The influences of Hinduism (Brahmanism), Buddhism and Confucianism are strongly intermingled and produce blooms that are different and variegated. The peoples are blended, as all border peoples are mixed everywhere in the world. In Asia, where plural marriage has been usual, centuries of intermixture of races and peoples have produced new races and new peoples in each generation with a sturdy peasantry that represents a basic stock.

Red China, by moving into Bhutan and Sikkim, serves notice on India and the world that its immediate territorial designs reach to the Chien Lung line which will also include some territory in Kashmir. This can produce a war with India that could, and probably will if it happens, involve Great Britain as a member of the Commonwealth, and the United States as a SEATO power. Nehru is, however, not one to make war readily. Whether it is cowardice or an Asiatic brand of pacifism, he prefers to talk rather than to fight. The Communists are

Families Are Getting Bigger

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
America's families are getting bigger.

There are more families in the nation with three and four children than ever before. And the number seems to be growing year by year. In the last decade, the number of families with three children under the age of 18 increased 68 per cent, from 2,375,000 in 1948 to 4,312,000 last year.

During the same period, the number of families with four or more children increased from 2,298,000 to 3,645,000, or a jump of nearly 59 per cent.

Meanwhile, the number of families with only one child dropped 3.5 per cent, from 7,420,000 in 1948 to 7,137,000 in 1958.

So this increase in the size of families couldn't have come at a better time. Because of medicine's conquest of various infectious diseases, the chances of the premature death of either the father or mother have dropped considerably in most age categories.

Still, the possibility of orphanhood remains a sizable problem.

Just what are the chances some of these children have of losing a mother or father before reaching the age of 18? Again, let me cite some figures compiled by an insurance company.

Right now the chances are 40 to 1,000 that a white child born into a family where the father is only 25 years old will lose his father before the child is 18. Half a century ago the chances were 121 out of 1,000 that such a youngster would become a paternal orphan.

As you would expect, the possibility of orphanhood rises rapidly with the age of the father at the time the child is born. It rises less rapidly with the age of the mother.

When the father is 40 years old at the birth of the child, the chances of the youngster becoming an orphan are 146 in 1,000. In 1900, the chances were 197 out of 1,000.

A youngster is considerably less likely to be orphaned by the premature death of the mother. If the mother is only 20 when the child is born, the chances are a mere 15 out of 1,000 chances that she will die before the child is 18. Half a century ago the chances were 97 out of 1,000.

If she is 25 at the birth of the child, the chances are only 22 out of 1,000. Even at the age of 40, the breathing down his neck and he cannot talk much.

Is this a pleasant introduction to Khrushchev's visit to this country?

chances of her premature death are but 76 out of 1,000.

Answer: Numbness or pain in a toe may be due to a number of conditions, varying from gout to local pressure on a nerve by some local abnormality to interference with the nerve root in the spine, for example, by a slipped disk.

Find Medium on Savings

Series E and H savings bond liquidation by citizens has exceeded sales for the twelfth straight month, the U. S. Treasury announces. To stop this trend, which makes the Treasury's management of the $285 billion national debt more difficult, it is proposed to raise interest on the bonds from 3 1/4 to 3 3/4 per cent.

How much good that would do is doubtful. Some private savings institutions already pay more interest than that. The federal bond is safer than anything private institutions can offer, but the saver is likely to shop around for the best rate in these high price times.

Savings in the U. S., which were climbing during last year's recession, are declining again. At an annual rate of $26 billion last September, they have eased off to $23.5 billion now.

Every effort should be made to encourage saving habits. Savings are what keep American enterprise fueled.

Humor Seeps into FBI Ranks

NEW YORK (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation is noted more for its sense of justice than its sense of humor.

That fact, of course, is inherent in the nature of its job.

The task of catching thousands of criminals yearly is deadly serious work. It can be deadly dangerous, too. A number of J. Edgar Hoover's men have given up their lives in the line of duty.

But even the grimmest police work sometimes has its wryly humorous side—times when comedy for a moment obscures the tragedy.

When Warner Bros. decided to do a film dramatizing Don Whitehead's best seller, "The FBI Story," it undertook meticulous research into the bureau's operation to insure authenticity.

Here are a few of the lighter episodes in the FBI's crowded history:

Agents once arrested a 19-year-old girl accused of being an accessory in a bank robbery. Under questioning she strenuously denied any knowledge of the crime.

She was told her bail would be $3,000, and agents asked where she could raise such a sum.

"Well," she said, "I guess I could rob another bank."

There was a sudden silence, which the girl broke by observing ruefully: "Oops, I shouldn't have said 'another,' should I?"

In Houston FBI agents trailed two members of a car theft ring to a hotel.

Finding the door ajar, they stepped quickly into the room, told one of the surprised thieves: "We're FBI agents. You are under arrest!"

From an adjoining room came a terrified shout from the second thief: "Don't shoot! I'm clean!" He was. He was sitting in the bathtub covered with lather.

During one recent investigation an agent served as assistant funeral director, rode in the funeral coach—and even helped in the burial of a man who was a close acquaintance of a fugitive the bureau was seeking.

Now and then a fugitive can be extraordinarily helpful to the FBI. One such was a man wanted for interstate transportation of stolen property. When arrested, he had in his pocket a "wanted" circular which described him fully.

Another, an ex-convict, had in his possession when caught an official copy of his FBI identification record.

He explained he had stolen it several years before from a sheriff's office while working there as a trusty.

Obligingly, he had kept the record up to date himself by writing in the data concerning his later arrests—strictly as a matter of pride.

Families Are Getting Bigger

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
America's families are getting bigger.

There are more families in the nation with three and four children than ever before. And the number seems to be growing year by year.

In the last decade, the number of families with three children under the age of 18 increased 68 per cent, from 2,575,000 in 1948 to 4,312,000 last year.

During the same period, the number of families with four or more children increased from 2,298,000 to 3,645,000, or a jump of nearly 59 per cent.

Meanwhile, the number of families with only one child dropped 3.5 per cent, from 7,420,000 in 1948 to 7,157,000 in 1958.

So? So this increase in the size of families couldn't have come at a better time. Because of medicine's conquest of various infectious diseases, the chances of the premature death of either the father or mother have dropped considerably in most age categories.

Still, the possibility of orphanhood remains a sizable problem.

Just what are the chances some of these children have of losing a mother or father before reaching the age of 18? Again, let me cite some figures compiled by an insurance company.

Right now the chances are 40 to 1,000 that a white child born into a family where the father is only 25 years old will lose his father before the child is 18. Half a century ago the chances were 121 out of 1,000 that such a youngster would become a paternal orphan.

As you would expect, the possibility of orphanhood rises rapidly with the age of the father at the time the child is born. It rises less rapidly with the age of the mother.

When the father is 40 years old at the birth of the child, the chances of the youngster becoming an orphan are 146 in 1,000. In 1900, the chances were 197 out of 1,000.

A youngster is considerably less likely to be orphaned by the premature death of the mother. If the mother is only 20 when the child is born, the chances are a mere 15 out of 1,000 chances that she will die before the child is 18. Half a century ago the chances were 97 out of 1,000.

If she is 25 at the birth of the child, the chances are only 22 out of 1,000. Even at the age of 40, the breathing down his neck and he cannot talk much.

Is this a pleasant introduction to Khrushchev's visit to this country?

chances of her premature death are but 76 out of 1,000.

Question and Answer

V. G.: What would cause numbness in a portion of the big toe on the right foot, also occasional pain in the same area? My shoes are properly fitted and I have never had frostbite on this toe.

Answer: Numbness or pain in a toe may be due to a number of conditions, varying from gout to local pressure on a nerve by some local abnormality to interference with the nerve root in the spine, for example, by a slipped disk. You should consult your doctor.

Working Against God

JONAH DISOBEYED THE LORD'S COMMAND AND WAS PUNISHED

Scripture—Obadiah; Jonah 1-2.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THE STORY of Jonah and the whale is probably known by the older classes of the Sunday school, but to the younger ones it may be new. From it they may learn that obedience, whether to God's guidance or to their parents, is the happiest and best way to live. "Now the word of the Lord came unto Jonah the son of Amittai, saying, Arise, go to Nineveh, that great city, and cry against it; for their wickedness is come up before Me."—Jonah 1:1-2.

"But Jonah rose up to flee unto Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, and went down to Joppa; and he found a ship going to Tarshish; so he paid the fare thereof and went down into it."—Jonah 1:3.

The Lord sent a great wind into the sea, causing the ship to be in danger of being wrecked. The mariners were frightened and prayed to their gods. Jonah was asleep at the time and the master of the ship woke him and asked why he was not praying with the others. Then the sailors cast lots to fix the blame on someone, and Jonah's name came up.—Jonah 1:4-7.

Jonah, whose conscience must have troubled him, told them he was a Hebrew and had disobeyed his God, so probably his presence was the cause of the storm. They cast him into the sea, where "the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow Jonah. And Jonah was in the belly of the fish for three days and three nights" before the fish threw him out on the land. Jonah had prayed earnestly to the Lord while in the fish's belly, and his prayers were answered.—Jonah 1:9-2:10.

In his Peloubet's Notes, Dr. Wilbur M. Smith, speaking of the whale episode, says: "We are come now to one of the most disputed supernatural events of the Old Testament." He quotes Mr. Frank E. Gaebelein, who tells of a sailor who was actually swallowed by a set thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee down, saith the Lord.—Obadiah 1:1-4. "The Herods were of the line of Edomites, and the last picture of the Edomites is a terrible one." Dr. Wilbur M. Smith writes, "To the end their character was unchanged. They were a wicked people and punishment followed them, as it does all nations and individuals who sin deeply."

None of us will face the dilemma that was Jonah's, but we can all, young or old, remember that obedience to God's guidance, when we earnestly pray to Him, will bring us happiness, and that He knows best what is best. Children must learn to honor and obey their parents as Jesus Christ taught. We read in our newspapers sometimes of a child who has been told not to cross a busy street and who was seriously injured or killed when he disobeyed.

Working Against God

JONAH DISOBEYED THE LORD'S COMMAND AND WAS PUNISHED

Scripture—Obadiah; Jonah 1-2.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THE STORY of Jonah and the whale is probably known by the older classes of the Sunday school, but to the younger ones it may be new. From it they may learn that obedience, whether to God's guidance or to their parents, is the happiest and best way to live. "Now the word of the Lord came unto Jonah the son of Amittai, saying, Arise, go to Nineveh, that great city, and cry against it; for their wickedness is come up before Me."—Jonah 1:1-2.

"But Jonah rose up to flee unto Tarsish from the presence of the Lord, and went down to Joppa; and he found a ship going to Tarsish; so he paid the fare thereof and went down into it."—Jonah 1:3.

The Lord sent a great wind into the sea, causing the ship to be in danger of being wrecked. The mariners were frightened and prayed to their gods. Jonah was asleep at the time and the master of the ship woke him and asked why he was not praying with the others. Then the sailors cast lots to fix the blame on someone, and Jonah's name came up.—Jonah 1:4-7.

Jonah, whose conscience must have troubled him, told them he was a Hebrew and had disobeyed his God, so probably his presence was the cause of the storm. They cast him into the sea, where "the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow Jonah. And Jonah was in the belly of the fish for three days and three nights" before the fish threw him out on the land. Jonah had prayed earnestly to the Lord while in the fish's belly, and his prayers were answered.—Jonah 1:9-2:10.

In his Peloubet's Notes, Dr. Wilbur M. Smith, speaking of the whale episode, says: "We are come now to one of the most disputed supernatural events of the Old Testament." He quotes Mr. Frank E. Gaebel, who tells of a sailor who was actually swallowed by a set thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee down, saith the Lord."—Obadiah 1:1-4.

"The Herods were of the line of Edomites, and the last picture of the Edomites is a terrible one." Dr. Wilbur M. Smith writes, "To the end their character was unchanged. They were a wicked people and punishment followed them, as it does all nations and individuals who sin deeply."

None of us will face the dilemma that was Jonah's, but we can all, young or old, remember that obedience to God's guidance, when we earnestly pray to Him, will bring us happiness, and that He knows best what is best.

Children must learn to honor and obey their parents as Jesus Christ taught. We read in our newspapers sometimes of a child who has been told not to cross a busy street and who was seriously injured or killed when he disobeyed.

37 Hogs Missing From Area Farm

Clarence Maxson, Route 1, Circleville, informed the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department Wednesday that 37 hogs are missing at his farm.

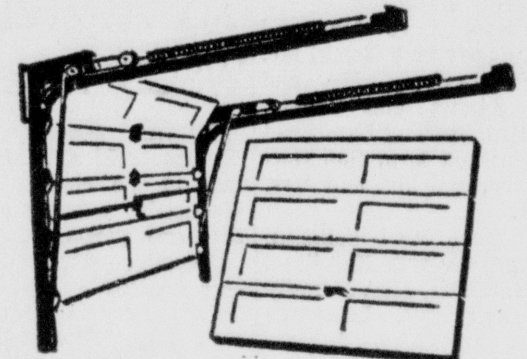

Maxson said the hogs are mixed breed Hampshire-Poland China. Before he discovered the North Pole, Adm. Robert E. Peary wrote magazine articles about the tropics, especially about Nicaragua which he explored.

They weigh between 100-125 pounds, he said. Maxson said he checked on the hogs every two weeks. They were missing yesterday.

Don't Rush into Changes

DEAR ABBY: I am so confused. After 23 years of what I considered a happy marriage, my husband got dressed for work, went to the garage and shot himself.

There are a lot of rumors around town about why he did it. I don't know what to believe.

We had three children. As far as I know my husband was not in debt. He had everything to live for. Everyone is giving me advice on what to do. Some say, "Sell the house and move to another town. Others say, "Stay. You can't run away from yourself," what do you think I should do?

DEPRESSED
DEAR DEPRESSED: Don't make any radical changes in haste. Your present house, friends and surroundings are bound to keep the old memories alive. But a temporary change of scenery might be good for you and the children.

DEAR ABBY: Please give me your viewpoint on people who never give you a specific invitation, but when they leave your home (after having been invited) they always say, "Don't forget where we live and drop in ANYTIME." I say this is no invitation. My husband says he thinks it is all right. Your opinion, please.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Don't Rush into Changes

DEAR ABBY: I am so confused. After 23 years of what I considered a happy marriage, my husband got dressed for work, went to the garage and shot himself.

There are a lot of rumors around town about why he did it. I don't know what to believe.

We had three children. As far as I know my husband was not in debt. He had everything to live for. Everyone is giving me advice on what to do. Some say, "Sell the house and move to another town. Others say, "Stay. You can't run away from yourself," what do you think I should do?

DEPRESSED
DEAR DEPRESSED: Don't make any radical changes in haste. Your present house, friends and surroundings are bound to keep the old memories alive. But a temporary change of scenery might be good for you and the children.

DEAR ABBY: I am fourteen years old and sometimes I wish I were dead. My problem is I have a clock in my family. This clock makes all kinds of trouble for me. My father is the clock. When I go somewhere and say I'll be home at a certain time, if I am not home right on the dot my father gets real mad and won't let me go out for a month. I am afraid to answer him back because if I open my mouth he says I am talking back to him. What can I do about this clock of mine?

CLOCK TROUBLE
DEAR CLOCK: The problem is not the "clock," it's the cuckoo who gets so wound up in having fun that he doesn't know what

Football, Music, Comedy Slated Tonight at CHS

Football, music and comedy will take the spotlight tonight at the Circleville High School Football field during the CHS Bandmothers' Annual Preview.

Activity is scheduled to start at 8 p. m. when Miss Carole Weiler, Circleville's Miss Ohio, makes an appearance at the field to kick off the evening festivities.

Miss Weiler's entrance will precede performances by the CHS Marching Band, a scrimmage involving the football team and a surprising show by Charlie Kirkpatrick and his talented musicians and lovely majorettes.

Coach Carl Benhase has divided his grid squad into Red and White teams. They will scrimmage under simulated game conditions. Varsity players will be placed on both teams, indicating that some hard play is in store.

THE CHS BAND, whipping into shape by way of daily practice sessions the last two weeks, is primed and ready, according to Director Truman Eberly.

Kirkpatrick's Band, needing little practice, is more than set for the show. The same holds true for his high-stepping majorettes.

The CHS Band will appear with new red - pearl and chrome matched parade drums. For the first time in history of the band, the entire drum section will march with uniform appearance.

The section will be complete with two Scotch bass drums, five snare parade drums and three tenor drums to present a snappy new sound and look to the public.

Two pairs of cymbals complete the percussion ensemble.

The new instruments were purchased from the Band Fund which is raised by the students from participation in parades.

OTHER items purchased by the band the last two years include a combination director and music folio stand, a percussion equipment cabinet, drum sticks, record albums, wall charts, a field director's podium, a practice piano and a record storage cabinet. In all, the band has spent about $900 the last two years from its earnings for improvements in the music department, according to Bandmaster Eberly.

Two dozen pairs of white spats were purchased recently by the CHS Bandmothers to complete outfitting the band.

The drum section which will perform with the new instruments tonight will be led by section leader John David, assisted by Jim Adkins, Charles Sisco, Dick Walker and Diane Johnson on parade drums; Kenneth Jones, Granville Jones and Fred Rickey on tenor

Indians' Last Hopes Hinge On Outcome

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Cleveland either takes two of three in that last-chance series opening at Chicago tonight against the first-place White Sox, or they're nothing but a bunch of dead Indians in the American League pennant race.

It's as simple—or as tough—as that.

A sweep would jump the White Sox 8½ games out front—enough to virtually lock up their first pennant in 40 years with 19 games to play. At the moment, their magic number is 18—any combination of Chicago victories and Cleveland losses totaling 18 gives it to the White Sox.

Neither the White Sox, who named Early Wynn (17-9) to pitch tonight, nor the Indians, who picked rookie Jim Perry (10-6), played Thursday. In the only AL games scheduled, Baltimore beat Boston 5-4 on Bob Nieman's two home runs, and the Yankees whipped Washington 9-2 behind Art Ditmar, who had a no-hitter until Roy Sievers homered with two out in the seventh. The Nats finished with four hits.

If somebody's second-guessing Don Drysdale these days, it isn't the hitters. They've nailed him, and no doubt about it.

The St. Louis Cardinals, clubbing back when big guy Joe Cunningham was plunked with a pitch after hitting a homer, belted Drysdale for his fifth straight defeat, 5-3, Thursday night. The second-place Dodgers fell 2½ games behind San Francisco.

The Giants came from behind for an 8-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs on home runs by Ed Bressoud and the Willies—McCovey and Mays. It was the only other game scheduled in the NL.

Both Bressoud and Mays drove in three runs for the Giants after the Cubs had chased 18-game winner Johnny Antonelli with three runs in the third for a 4-0 lead. Bressoud homered in a two-run third and tied it with a two-run single in the fourth. McCovey then broke it up with his 10th homer in the fifth off losing reliever Dave Hillman (6-10.) Mays added his 25th homer with a man on in the sixth.

Stu Miller (8-7) won it.

Lopez Can Write Own Ticket Now

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Veeck was quoted today as saying Al Lopez can virtually write his own ticket if and when he decides to sign a contract as the White Sox field manager for 1960.

Lopez could sign a two- or three-year contract and at a raise in pay, the Chicago Sun-Times quoted the Sox president as saying.

The paper said Veeck has had preliminary talks with Lopez about next year but said Lopez indicated he would prefer to delay any contract signing until after the 1959 season.

Lopez currently is working under a one-year contract which expires this year.

Rote Guides Lions Rout

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tobin Rote, the two-way quarterback in the pros' language, is up to his proven tricks while pointing the Detroit Lions toward a new—and happier, they hope—National Football League season.

Rote, a passing quarterback who also runs, stayed at the controls throughout the Lions' exhibition game with the Philadelphia Eagles at Toledo Thursday night.

Coach George Wilson and the Lions—who wallowed with a 4-7-1 record last year—were rewarded with these accomplishments: Eighteen of 25 passes completed for 272 yards and three touchdowns, eight runs for 69 yards and one touchdown—adding up to a 35-24 Detroit victory.

Rote, now 30 and beginning his 10th pro season, packed four touchdowns into a wide open second quarter after the Eagles grabbed a 14-0 first quarter lead.

Buckeye Drills Go Off Smoothly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Football drills at Ohio State University went off very smoothly again Thursday, said Coach Woody Hayes.

Only injury of the day was to Chuck Bryant, Zanesville sophomore, who suffered a pulled groin muscle. Hayes said the rain-soaked field has kept down player injuries so far.

Paul Martin of Canton was moved up to the first team, replacing Tom Perdue at left end.

The young muskies, reared at the Kincaid Hatcheries in Pike County, averaged about eight inches. The stocking this week marked the first release of the touted fish here.

According to Riethmiller, present plans call for about 250 muskies to be stocked here over a period of time. He is slated to release 50 more today.

THE fish management supervisor said the spirited game fish released here should measure about 14 inches by spring and 22 to 24 inches by fall. He based his estimate on the growth of muskies previously stocked in other Ohio lakes.

He said fast growth is a common characteristic of muskies. He said the local lake has the necessary qualities to indicate that the fish will survive.

Riethmiller said the fish brought here are of the "southern specie" or Ohio Muskellunge. Their ability to spawn and reproduce still is doubtful, but they are able to survive and grow, he added.

The fish yesterday were brought in plastic water-filled bags. The bags were placed in the water until temperatures were balanced, then the fish were released. They swam about in shallow water for a few seconds, then made a lightning dash for deeper environment.

Hunters Named For Duck Opener

Lopez Can Write Own Ticket Now

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Veech was quoted today as saying Al Lopez can virtually write his own ticket if and when he decides to sign a contract as the White Sox field manager for 1960.

Lopez could sign a two- or three-year contract and at a raise in pay, the Chicago Sun-Times quoted the Sox president as saying.

The paper said Veech has had preliminary talks with Lopez about next year but said Lopez indicated he would prefer to delay any contract signing until after the 1959 season.

Lopez currently is working under a one-year contract which expires this year.

Rote Guides Lions Rout

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tobin Rote, the two-way quarterback in the pros' language, is up to his proven tricks while pointing the Detroit Lions toward a new—and happier, they hope—National Football League season.

Rote, a passing quarterback who also runs, stayed at the controls throughout the Lions' exhibition game with the Philadelphia Eagles at Toledo Thursday night.

Coach George Wilson and the Lions—who wallowed with a 4-7-1 record last year—were rewarded with these accomplishments: Eighteen of 25 passes completed for 272 yards and three touchdowns, eight runs for 69 yards and one touchdown—adding up to a 35-24 Detroit victory.

Rote, now 30 and beginning his 10th pro season, packed four touchdowns into a wide open second quarter after the Eagles grabbed a 14-0 first quarter lead.

Pilot Zoom Wins

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Pilot Zoom won the feature $3,000 race in 2:06 1-5 at Brandywine Raceway Thursday. The four-year-old gelding is owned by Porter Martin of Circleville, Ohio. Driven by Jim Mace, the horse wound up a length winner, paying $5.10, $4.00 and $3.10 as the favorite.

Miss America No Beauty Test, It Takes Brains, Talent, Too

By JIM FRANCIS
Central Press Correspondent
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—If the annual "Miss America" pageant is any indication, the emphasis on women in America has shifted from figure and beauty appeal to brains, talent and all-around wholesomeness in less than two generations.

When the pageant began here in 1921, the only factor considered in the final selection of the winner was beauty plus bathing suit appearance.

By 1937 the trend had moved considerably from the tape measure and talent also became an important factor in selecting "Miss America." In 1945 the judges began considering the beauties' mental ability as well as looks and talent.

When the 54 beautiful contestants bid for honors in the pageant here Sept. 7-12, they will find the competition a far cry from the days when their grandmothers or mothers might have been entrants.

The finalists, selected from several thousand girls who competed in state, regional and local contests, will undergo five days of intensive testing. It will range from appearance in evening gowns and bathing suits to demonstrating talent in a wide variety of fields and answering questions posed by a panel of prominent judges. The judges also consider such intangibles as poise, grooming and speaking manner in making their final choice.

During the three nights of preliminary judging all contestants appear each evening. One-third compete for swim suit honors one night, another third the same night for evening gown honors and the remaining third for talent honors.

Ten finalists are selected and this list is narrowed to five. The finals will be televised nationally on Saturday, Sept. 12.

A review of winners during the 38 years of the pageant — it was not held three years—shows that 24 of the finalists have been outstanding in talent and 14 in the brains department.

Surprisingly, a number of the runner-ups have gone on to greater fame in the movies, stage, radio and TV than some of the winners. Anita Bryant, "Miss Oklahoma" and a finalist last year, is now appearing regularly on network radio.

In recent years pageant officials have noted that a majority of the contestants have been college or junior college graduates or students, with a sprinkling of recent high school graduates. The age limit for contestants is 18 to 25.

In the first few years of the pageant the minimum age was 16. The first winner, Margaret Gorman of Washington, D. C., was that age when she won, and Mary Campbell of Columbus, O., the only two-time winner in 1922 and 1923, was 16 when she first won.

Today's contestants, a pageant official said, are more often outstanding small town girls who combine beauty, talent and brains and is a far cry from the chorus girl type often associated with beauty contests.

"Most of the girls who get into the national competition have been outstanding in their local communities. They're generally the type you'll find participating in church or school activities, the Girl Scouts, YWCA or other type of activities," an official said.

The pageant is staged each year by a non-profit group made up of leading Atlantic City business, civic and industrial leaders. Even the group's directors buy their own tickets for the show staged at the mammoth convention hall.

Khrushchev . . .

States from official tourists who had preceded him.

Khrushchev's first sally beyond the Iron Curtain was to Communist Yugoslavia in the spring of 1955, with Nikolai Bulganin, the premier he later dumped, in tow.

The love feast was spectacular. But it did not survive the 1956 Hungarian uprising. Moscow placed much of the blame for that on Tito's example.

Khrushchev's first trip outside the Red orbit came in the summer of 1955. The era of smiles bought a summit meeting in Geneva, but the "spirit of Geneva" soon faded before the chill wind of a newly toughened Soviet policy.

In the winter of 1955, Khrushchev, with Bulganin respectfully in the background, roared through Burma and India, scattering insults all the way.

Thereafter Khrushchev was on the go frequently. It was nothing any more for him to make sudden, unannounced trips to Communist capitals for his own political purposes: to Prague, Warsaw, Sofia, Budapest, Tirana and to Red China's Peiping. It was far more than junketing.

On his last trip to Peiping, Khrushchev apparently received a jolt. He had expressed willingness in mid-1958 for a summit conference on the dangerous Middle East crisis. After he returned from Peiping, looking gray and shaken, he reversed himself and rejected the idea of such a meeting.

But Khrushchev bounced back quickly and was off to Poland for another whirlwind tour, even then planning on a trip to America. If Peiping didn't like it, Khrushchev didn't seem to care too much any more. He was anxious to get the show on the road again.

But there have been signs that even the fabulous energy of the Soviet leader has its limits. He has some kind of kidney or liver ailment and has eased off noticeably on his drinking—even, indeed, attempting at the same time to put all the rest of the Soviet Union on the wagon. He has spells of weakness and dizziness, and sometimes he seems to speak a little incoherently.

Yet Khrushchev seems to be the last to want to admit that he's been wearing down. He just wants to go, go, go.

When the 54 beautiful contestants bid for honors in the pageant here Sept. 7-12, they will find the competition a far cry from the days when their grandmothers or mothers might have been entrants.

The finalists, selected from several thousand girls who competed in state, regional and local contests, will undergo five days of intensive testing. It will range from appearance in evening gowns and bathing suits to demonstrating talent in a wide variety of fields and answering questions posed by a panel of prominent judges. The judges also consider such intangibles as poise, grooming and speaking manner in making their final choice.

During the three nights of preliminary judging all contestants appear each evening. One-third compete for swim suit honors one night, another third the same night for evening gown honors and the remaining third for talent honors.

Ten finalists are selected and this list is narrowed to five. The finals will be televised nationally on Saturday, Sept. 12.

A review of winners during the 38 years of the pageant — it was not held three years — shows that 24 of the finalists have been outstanding in talent and 14 in the brains department.

Surprisingly, a number of the runner-ups have gone on to greater fame in the movies, stage, radio and TV than some of the winners. Anita Bryant, "Miss Oklahoma" and a finalist last year, is now appearing regularly on network radio.

In recent years pageant officials have noted that a majority of the contestants have been college or junior college graduates or students, with a sprinkling of recent high school graduates. The age limit for contestants is 18 to 25.

In the first few years of the pageant the minimum age was 16. The first winner, Margaret Gorman of Washington, D. C., was that age when she won, and Mary Campbell of Columbus, O., the only two-time winner in 1922 and 1923, was 16 when she first won.

Today's contestants, a pageant official said, are more often an outstanding small town girl who combines beauty, talent and brains and is a far cry from the chorus girl type often associated with beauty contests.

"Most of the girls who get into the national competition have been outstanding in their local communities. They're generally the type you'll find participating in church or school activities, the Girl Scouts, YWCA or other type of activities," an official said.

The pageant is staged each year by a non-profit group made up of leading Atlantic City business, civic and industrial leaders. Even the group's directors buy their own tickets for the show staged at the mammoth convention hall.

Khrushchev

States from official tourists who had preceded him.

Khrushchev's first sally beyond the Iron Curtain was to Communist Yugoslavia in the spring of 1955, with Nikolai Bulganin, the premier he later dumped, in tow.

The love feast was spectacular. But it did not survive the 1956 Hungarian uprising. Moscow placed much of the blame for that on Tito's example.

Khrushchev's first trip outside the Red orbit came in the summer of 1955. The era of smiles bought a summit meeting in Geneva, but the "spirit of Geneva" soon faded before the chill wind of a newly toughened Soviet policy.

In the winter of 1955, Khrushchev, with Bulganin respectfully in the background, roared through Burma and India, scattering insults all the way.

Thereafter Khrushchev was on the go frequently. It was nothing more for him to make sudden, unannounced trips to Communist capitals for his own political purposes: to Prague, Warsaw, Sofia, Budapest, Tirana and to Red China's Peiping. It was far more than junketing.

On his last trip to Peiping, Khrushchev apparently received a jolt. He had expressed willingness in mid-1958 for a summit conference on the dangerous Middle East crisis. After he returned from Peiping, looking gray and shaken, he reversed himself and rejected the idea of such a meeting.

But Khrushchev bounced back quickly and was off to Poland for another whirlwind tour, even then planning on a trip to America. If Peiping didn't like it, Khrushchev didn't seem to care too much any more. He was anxious to get the show on the road again.

But there have been signs that even the fabulous energy of the Soviet leader has its limits. He has some kind of kidney or liver ailment and has eased off noticeably on his drinking—even, indeed, attempting at the same time to put all the rest of the Soviet Union on the wagon. He has spells of weakness and dizziness, and sometimes he seems to speak a little incoherently.

Yet Khrushchev seems to be the last to want to admit that he's been wearing down. He just wants to go, go, go.

Within less than two weeks after the selection of "Miss America for 1960," competition will get underway in Arizona to pick that state's nominee for 1961 honors and Florida will select its winner in February. Practically all of the contests are sponsored by groups like the Junior Chamber of Commerce, local chambers or social organizations.

Perhaps the best indication of the growing cost of education in America came last year when the judges raised the winner's scholarship from $5,000 to $10,000. They felt inflation had deflated the value of the $5,000 scholarship.
